

Tuesday 5th January

LO: To carry out research for persuasive writing.

Do Now- What do you know already about plastic pollution?

Challenge- What can individual people do to help the problems caused by plastic pollution?

Spelling Practice Vocabulary

actually

although actual

You are going to be writing a speech to persuade your fellow students to take action to help the plastic pollution problem.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?time_continue=119&v=6zrn4-FfbXw&feature=emb_title

Watch the video link above and make a note of any facts that you think will be useful for your writing.

Task- Group facts into 4 categories-5 mins!

1. The scale of the problem
2. Plastic bags
3. Plastic lids
4. The effect of plastic on animals

Tricky vocab:

Debris - rubbish

To ingest - to eat

Complete the grid below using the facts that you have discovered from the video and the group task.

The scale of the problem	The effect of plastic on animals
Plastic cups	Plastic bags

How to Write an Introduction for a Persuasive Speech

- A persuasive speech is meant to convince an audience to agree with your point of view or argument relating to a specific topic. While the body of your persuasive speech is where the bulk of your argument will go, it's important that you don't overlook the introduction. A good introduction will capture your audience's attention, which is crucial if you want to persuade them. Fortunately, there are some simple rules you can follow that will make the introduction to your persuasive essay more engaging and memorable.

Simple Rules

- Here are some simple rules you can follow that will make the introduction to your persuasive essay more engaging and memorable.
 1. Start off with a hook to grab the audience's attention.
 2. Introduce your opinion statement. What are you writing about?
 3. Always use facts and data to support what you think.
 4. Conclude your introduction by briefly previewing the main points you'll cover.

Your Task

- Today you will be writing an introduction to a persuasive writing letter. You will be focused on persuading your classmates about taking action on the pollution problem. You can choose to focus on the pollution that is taking place in the seas and how it affects the sea life.

- Remember introduction must have:

